

Postal Increase Gives Raise to U.S. Workers

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today signed a bill raising postage rates, and boosting salaries for more than a million federal employees.

Kennedy hailed it as an important step toward putting the postal system on a self-sustaining basis and making federal jobs more attractive.

Among the changes: First class mail will cost five cents, air mail eight cents beginning next Jan. 7.

With legislators who worked on the bill and representatives of postal unions watching, Kennedy put his signature to the legislation in his White House office as the first item on his day's schedule.

Kennedy, reading from a statement, said the new postal rates would bring in additional annual revenue amounting to $600 million.

The new law provides "broad reform" and flexibility in postal system salaries and puts them at a level which would help to prevent large-scale "attraction to private industry," he said.

Kennedy said the salary increases would help attract more capable people into federal employment and contribute to better productivity.

The legislative package signed into law combines two of Kennedy's major legislative proposals—pay increases and salary reform for 1.6 million federal workers, and new revenue to help run the deficit-ridden postal service.

The pay section of the bill calls for two-step raises averaging 9.6 per cent for 1 million "white collar" workers, and 11.2 per cent for 600,000 postal clerks and letter carriers.

The first step goes into effect next payday, the second step on Jan. 1, 1964. Cost of the increase will be $1.05 billion.

The new postal rates—chiefly a one-cent increase in first-class and airmail stamps, with smaller increases for second and third class users—are intended to bring in $600 million in new revenue after three years.

The new first class and air mail rates begin Jan. 7, 1963, but most of the second and third class increases are spread over three years, starting in January.

Of the $600 million in new revenue, $459 million will come from the added penny on first class, and air mail stamps.

Second class users — mostly magazine and newspaper publishers—will have their mailing costs increased by $2.4 million after three years, chiefly through three annual increases of 4 per cent for editorial matter, and three 10 per cent increases for advertising matter.

New third class rates will bring in $93.7 million in new revenue, $39.5 million of it through an increase from 2 1/2 cents per piece of bulk advertising mail to 2 cents after three years.

The rate for a single piece of third class mail goes up from 3 cents to 4 cents, bringing in an additional $34.5 million. This is the class used by those who send Christmas cards with the envelopes unsealed.

New Kind of Contact Lenses

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Dr. Irving Filderman of Memphis described development of a new kind of contact lens at the Arkansas Optometric Association convention Wednesday.

Filderman, director of contact lens research for the Southern Council of Optometry, said he had been experimenting with the new lens for 10 months.

It is smaller (seven millimeters) than the 9 1/2 millimeter lenses now being used. Filderman said it fits the pupil of the eyes, rather than the cornea and, being smaller, it better resists movement of the eyelids.

Filderman said he also was working on a process to put bifocal vision into the lenses.

The two-day optometrists' meeting ends today.

Macmillan's Common Mart Plan Backed

By TOM OCHILTREE

LLANDUDNO, Wales (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan's government won overwhelming support from his Conservative party conference today for taking Britain into the European Common Market.

Passionate pro-European speeches by Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler and Deputy Foreign Minister Edward Heath called on Britain to accept her destiny and help lead Europe and the world to lasting peace and prosperity.

By a show of hands, the 4,500 delegates gave massive support to a motion calling on the government to continue the Brussels negotiations to link Britain with the six Common Market nations.

An amendment hostile to the Common Market was defeated, also on a show of hands.

The voting came after Heath received an ovation for a speech in which he declared:

"Europe is incomplete without Britain. And we in Britain are incomplete without Europe."

And he promised that this ancient island kingdom would not be swamped in the Common Market with her identity gone or her queen and Parliament downgraded.

Butler denied that the government faced a choice between the Commonwealth and the Common Market. He said Commonwealth countries would benefit from Britain's move into Europe. Their secondary industries would gain an expanding market, he declared, and Britain, with her prosperity increased, would be able to provide more development capital to meet Commonwealth needs.

Trade Bill Gives JFK Vast Powers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signs into law today the historic trade expansion bill giving him vast power to reduce most tariffs, repeal others and forge economic links with the booming European Common Market.

Administration leaders hailed the bill as the crowning legislative achievement of Kennedy's first two years in the White House.

The new trade program received strong support from both parties and from leaders of business and organized labor.

Opposition from protectionist groups was not as harsh as had been predicted, since the measure provides help for industries and workers when imports cause loss of business and jobs.

The administration was unable to block a provision that would restrict trade with Poland and Yugoslavia. But otherwise, Congress gave Kennedy almost exactly what he requested, plus additional authority to counter unjustifiable import barriers erected by other countries against American products.

The special authority to work out economic arrangements with the Common Market is regarded by the administration as the heart of the bill.

The booming six-nation area is looked upon as a potential vast new market for sales of American consumer goods and farm surpluses.

The six nations in the market are West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Great Britain is negotiating to become a member.

The bill extends for five years.

Prospect for Adjournment Better Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—The prospect for adjournment of Congress late tonight or early Friday morning blossomed today as a long stalemate over the Agriculture Department appropriation bill seemed to have been broken.

Rep. Jamie L. Whitton, D-Miss., told the House he expected to reach agreement today with the Senate over the bill.

The $5 billion appropriation bill has been a major obstacle to adjournment, with the House and Senate holding out for their own versions of the bill.

The Senate is insisting on funds for half a dozen research laboratory projects in the farm measure. The House is strongly opposed to them.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., who is handling the bill for the Senate, told newsmen meanwhile, that he was continuing his objection to Senate consideration of the last money bill of the session—a catch-all supplemental.

Under Senate rules, this cannot be taken up until Friday unless he withdraws his objection.

The Senate, with practically no business on its calendar, met at 10 a.m. today but 22 minutes later Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana called a recess to 12 p.m.

Mansfield moved for the recess after Russell and Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said they might insist on a live quorum.

There was considerable doubt as to whether a quorum was in Washington. Senate aides said that as of mid-morning there were 51 known absentees, but that the situation was fluctuating from hour to hour.

It takes 51 senators of the 103 to make a quorum.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assisting Democratic leader, said he had not entirely abandoned hope for closing shop tonight but that the hope was a dim one.

House leaders confidently predicted final adjournment late Friday.

Little progress was made on Wednesday in disposing of the few key bills remaining and no action was scheduled for most of them today.

But nearly every important measure left was in a position to be moved quickly to the White House if only a few bitter disputes could be settled.

Numerous behind-the-scenes conferences were called Wednesday, with White House prodding clearly in evidence, and the leaders said substantial progress was made on their thorniest problems.

One source, who asked not to be identified, said President Kennedy told Democratic leaders in no uncertain terms at a White House conference earlier in the week that he wants Congress out of Washington.

Kennedy was reported to have remarked acidly that while he was out campaigning for more Democrats in Congress, the Democrats there weren't helping matters by squabbling and giving the impression they couldn't even adjourn.

Kennedy himself removed one big stumbling block by his last-minute signature on the pension bill for the self-employed.

Crop Prospects Show Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—September rains resulted in an increase of almost one per cent in national crop prospects, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday.

Total crop volume was estimated at 105 per cent of the 1957-59 average. Last month's estimate was 104 per cent. Last year's crop was 106 per cent of the average and the record 1960 crop produced 108 per cent of the average.

Here are the crop estimates for Arkansas:

Corn for grain: 6,752,000 bushels (yield of 31 bushels an acre).

Rice: 15,403,000 hundredweight (yield 3,650 pounds an acre).

Soybeans: 56,108,000 bushels (yield 20.5 bushels an acre).

Peanuts: Four million pounds.

Sweet potatoes: 265,000 hundredweight (yield of 6,300 pounds an acre).

Adenauer in Defense of His Policy

By JOHN WEYLAND

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer heatedly defended his Berlin policy today against opposition charges that it lacks initiative and does not serve the national interest.

He said President Kennedy and West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt agree with him that no basic changes were called for in the handling of the Berlin crisis.

The 86-year-old chancellor unexpectedly strode to the speaker's platform in the Bundestag (Parliament) during a debate on foreign policy after he was sharply criticized by Erich Ollenhauer, leader of the opposition Social Democratic party.

Adenauer said Ollenhauer's attacks went in the face of efforts to maintain a common Berlin and German policy were made with the knowledge that they could not be fully answered during a full Bundestag session.

"I cannot at this time and place, when the Soviets hear every word, go into details on the Western countermeasures that should be put into effect in the case of new Soviet encroachments," he asserted.

A report circulating here said the United States is seeking a firmer West German commitment to defend access to West Berlin should the Communist East German regime attempt to interfere.

The report was called speculation by government sources here and not mentioned in Adenauer's speech.

Council at Ole Miss to Plan Strategy

By VAN SAVELL

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—The powerful University of Mississippi student judicial council meets today to map procedures for a hearing for six students who face charges in connection with rioting last week when James H. Meredith entered the university.

Each student will have a private hearing before the council. Since it was established in 1951, only one decision has been reversed.

Possible penalties include expulsion, suspension for no less than one semester, suspension with suspended sentence, and probation.

AP&L Seeks PSC Okay on Rate Drop

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Power & Light Co. asked the Public Service Commission today to approve rate reductions for certain customers.

The company said it was not a general rate reduction.

Amount of the reduction was not disclosed by AP&L. Two members of the PSC told newsmen that they were not given dollars and cents figures either. AP&L officials said they had not computed them.

They said they could compare the proposed rate schedules with current schedules and determine that there would be a reduction, but they could not say how much because of certain variable factors.

AP&L President Reeves Ritchie said the revisions included no increases but would reduce rates for so-called all-electric homes, electrically heated homes and homes equipped with electric water heaters.

Ritchie said industrial and business customers also would benefit under the revised rate schedules.

If the revisions receive PSC approval, they will go into effect in 30 days.

AP&L also asked to be allowed to eliminate its Class 3 category for cities of 51 to 200 customers and lump them into Class 2, for cities of 51 to 4,500 customers. This would result in a decrease of about 30 cents a month for the reclassified customers, AP&L said.

Exile Group Carries Out Raid on Cuba

NEW YORK (AP)—A Cuban exile group which calls itself Alpha 66 announced it is declaring war, effective today, on all ships carrying supplies to Cuba.

The announcement was made by Antonio Veciana, 35-year-old leader of the group which says it carried out a raid on Cuba's north coast Monday. He is a certified public accountant in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Veciana made the statement in a broadcast from San Juan for the American Broadcasting Co.

He said attacks will be carried out on any and all vessels, not just those from Iron Curtain countries.

Veciana gave ABC some details on Monday's reported raid on the Cuban port of Isabella de Sagua, 150 miles east of Havana.

He said his force of 30 men inflicted 20 casualties on what he termed "the enemy." Veciana said the casualties included both Russians and Cubans.

His force, said Veciana, suffered five casualties. He declined to say whether they were killed or wounded.

Veciana said the Puerto Rican-based Alpha 66 plans to carry out another such raid within the next two weeks and two more by the end of the month.

Uncertain Fate for Water Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to authorize more than 200 water projects which would cost in excess of $4 billion faced an uncertain fate today as Congress apparently neared adjournment.

The House Rules Committee approved Tuesday after an all day hearing a resolution to permit the bill to go to a conference to adjust substantial Senate - House differences.

But this resolution is subject to House approval, and it could be held up as much as 10 days by chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., of the rules committee.

The Senate version includes $5 million in Arkansas projects not approved by the House.

Smith extracted assurances from key members of the House Public Works Committee that they would do their "dead level best" to hold the bill near the House-approved total of $2.25 billion.

U.S. officials said that there have been no really serious objections from Allied governments against the planned crackdown on shipping since they were informed of it and it became public a week or more ago.

Arkansas Is High on List of TB Cases

Mrs. Inez Turner, Public Health Nurse, issued the following facts concerning tuberculosis:

In 1961 there were 1,032 newly reported cases in Arkansas and 905 proved active or probably active. Of the active cases: 104 occurred in ages 5 to 14; 181 occurred in ages 25 to 44 and 207 occurred in ages 65 and older.

There are 1,241 active cases of tuberculosis with unknown medical supervision and Arkansas ranks third in the nation in deaths from TB.

The state is fifth in the nation in newly reported cases. Of the new cases 76 were under five years of age; 104 were reported in the 5-14 age group and 153 in the 15-34 age group. More than one third of the newly reported cases last year were under 35 years of age.

Of the 184 Arkansans who died last year from tuberculosis 120 were white and 64 non-white.

Shots One Day to Kill Infections

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Academy of General Practice heard a prediction Wednesday that one or two penicillin antibiotics may someday kill germs of all infectious diseases.

The forecast came from a nationally prominent surgeon, Dr. Jack L. Strominger, professor of pharmacology and microbiology at Washington University in St. Louis.

Strominger said penicillin already has been modified to develop new drugs and new applications. He said he expects development of an anti-allergic type so persons who cannot now take penicillin may do so safely.

The academy's 15th annual meeting ends today with election of officers.

U.S. All Out to Halt Cuba Shipments

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States now plans to impose early next week a drastic schedule of penalties to discourage all Free World shipping from carrying Soviet bloc cargoes to Cuba.

The policy now being worked out in the form of detailed orders and presidential decrees would also ban U.S. shipping in the Cuban trade and have the effect of closing American ports to Soviet vessels.

While thus putting a further economic squeeze on the regime of Premier Fidel Castro, the United States is also emphasizing its sympathy with and concern for the Cuban people.

The best-informed officials do not see any serious prospect of a successful popular uprising against Soviet-backed Castro under present circumstances.

But Secretary of State Dean Rusk implied in a speech Tuesday that if the Cubans did eventually get their freedom they could look for help from the United States.

Rusk, speaking at the opening of the new Inter-American Defense College here, said the task of the American nations is to aid the deprived masses of the Western Hemisphere to improve their living conditions and secure "freedom from despotic rule."

"I would like to make it clear," he said, "that this pledge is extended to the oppressed people of Cuba as well."

U.S. officials said that there have been no really serious objections from Allied governments against the planned crackdown on shipping since they were informed of it and it became public a week or more ago.

New Phone Statement on the Way

A new type long distance statement will be used with Hope customers' telephone bills in October, according to Mrs. Lena Maryman, chief operator of Southwestern Bell - Arkansas.

Long distance operators are now attending sessions to learn to use the new tickets.

"During this transition period, some operators will be using the new tickets, while those not yet trained will still be using the old tickets," Mrs. Maryman said.

As a result, some customers will receive the new statement in October, while others will receive the same type statement as in the past. In some cases, customers may receive both type statements, with part of their long distance calls recorded on each, depending on the status of operator training in the office. There will be no duplication of billing, however, Mrs. Maryman said.

The new system of billing is called "mark sense" billing. Long distance operators record billing information on special "mark sense" cards, using special graphic pencils.

Accounting machines read these marks, automatically figure the charges, and prepare the statements. In the past, operators have written all the billing information on long distance tickets which required manual processing and individual typing of long distance statements.

"Mark sense operation is another example of our work to constantly keep the cost of providing telephone service as low as possible," Mrs. Maryman concluded.

Castro Snags Negotiations for Prisoners

By GEORGE ARFELD

HAVANA (AP)—Negotiations hit a snag Wednesday night and the release of 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners was delayed again. But Prime Minister Fidel Castro planned further talks with negotiator James B. Donovan, possibly later today or Friday.

The talks between Castro and the New York attorney were expected to end Wednesday night. But after the two met for four hours in the presidential palace, a spokesman for the Cuban prisoners' families committee said:

"Certain points have to be revised and this will take two or three further meetings."

There was nothing to indicate that the snag was caused by the claim of Cuban exiles that they raided the Cuban north coast port of Isabella de Sagua Monday and killed 20 persons.

There has been no confirmation of the raid nor any comment on the exiles' claim in Havana.

The committee's spokesman would not say what caused the hitch in negotiations but emphasized there would be further meetings, possibly today or Friday.

As the negotiations dragged on, informants in Havana said Pan American Airways has offered to fly the prisoners to Miami as soon as an agreement is reached.

The prisoners were captured in the Bay of Pigs invasion in April 1961. Castro originally asked $62 million in cash for the release of all those captured. Donovan reportedly has offered medicine and food in lieu of cash.

Relatives or friends have paid for the release of a few captives, and 60 sick or wounded prisoners were returned to Miami last April.

Informed sources in Washington say the U.S. government will pay for a shipment of about $13 million in medicine and food to Cuba if the prisoners are released.

Funds raised by friends and relatives of the captives in the United States and Latin American presumably will make up the remainder of the ransom demanded by Castro for their release.

Any U.S. payment to Castro is expected to kick up an uproar in Congress. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., and Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., told the Senate they oppose any ransom payment.

Reports circulated in Washington that Donovan was acting for the administration in the negotiations as well as for the families committee. But Edwin Guthman, Justice Department information officer, denied a story in the New York World-Telegram and Sun that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy asked Donovan to take on the assignment last June, saying the White House had a moral obligation to obtain the release of Cubans captured in an invasion of the United States allowed to go ahead.

An informed member of Congress insisted, however, that Donovan acting as an agent for the administration with the full approval of President Kennedy and the attorney general.

Two Die in Oil Refinery Fire

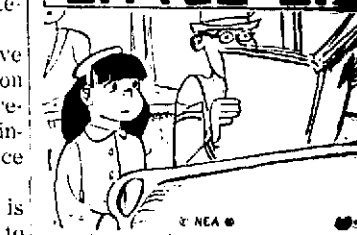

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Two men died Wednesday of burns suffered in Tuesday night's flash fire at the American Oil Co. refinery.

Elmer Bell, 46, of Strong died shortly after noon. Jack Johnson, 47, of El Dorado succumbed early Wednesday night.

L. E. Burge, 38, of El Dorado remains in critical condition at an El Dorado hospital.

The men were steam cleaning a crude oil separating unit when the fire flashed up, engulfing them. A co-worker, Doyle Hodges, 35, of Smackover was not caught in the flash, but he suffered hand and arm burns trying to pull burning clothing off the other men.

Company officials said Wednesday night they still had been unable to determine cause of the fire.

Men read newspapers more than women because they don't have time to get all the news over the phone.

Legion in Last Day of Convention

By JOHN FLYNN
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—American Legionnaires entered the final day of their annual convention today with two spirited fights in view—school prayers and the commander's election.

The school prayer issue popped up Wednesday when a resolutions committee suggested asking Congress for a constitutional amendment allowing prayers in public schools.

When a spirited battle broke out, Legionnaires tabled it until today. They said the less than one-third representation of the 3,615 eligible voting delegates was insufficient.

The resolution would ask Congress to "enable spoken prayer of a free and voluntary nature to be said in any and every location and place, including public schools, where citizens of the United States may gather."

Rabbi Robert I. Kahn of Houston, Tex., former national chaplain of the Legion, warned the delegates they were "playing with fire."

The national commander's election between James Powers of Marion, Ga., and Joseph Matthews of Fort Worth, Tex., looms as the closest in 14 years in the 3-million-member Legion.

Powers is the candidate of an informal but powerful selection committee. Matthews is the first serious challenger to the committee choice since 1948.

Backers of the committee claim Powers still will win by a 2-1 majority or more. The Matthews camp says its opponents may be surprised by large defections in such states as Pennsylvania, Missouri, Kansas and California.

No names will be released unless a student is expelled.

Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the six were charged under the federal code.

A meeting of the 27-member faculty senate was expected to consider two resolutions on the demonstrations and college unity.

While the student and faculty groups prepared action, the 29-year-old Negro went through his eighth day of classes.

As he left the cafeteria Wednesday night, some 100 students, mostly males, hollered at him. One cursed him.

Meredith said he would probably leave the campus for the weekend.

In other developments Wednesday:

The Army further reduced its forces in the Oxford area. Some 5,700 regular troops and federalized National Guardsmen remain, compared with 23,600 last week.

Student body president Dick Wilson said Ole Miss students would consider a suggestion by Brown University students for an exchange program to discuss integration.

Postal inspectors began opening packages addressed to Meredith. A Justice Department spokesman said "nothing sinister" has turned up.

Smathers, D-Fla., chief Senate sponsor of the measure, would remove his objection which has helped block consideration of a final supplemental money bill.

He cast his objection to delay adjournment and keep Congress in town in case Kennedy vetoed the pension measure.

However, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., did not withdraw his objection.

He is leading the Senate in another round of tug-of-war with the House over prestige. This round involves a $5 billion agriculture appropriations bill.

He has been insisting on funds for construction of a number of new agriculture research facilities which the House opposes.

The Senate voted Wednesday to put Congress on record backing any action, including the use of military force, needed to uphold Western rights in Berlin. Passage of the Berlin resolution was by voice vote. The House had approved the resolution earlier.

Both branches sent to Kennedy on Wednesday a $2,025,895,700 appropriations measure to run the State, Justice and Commerce Departments.

This left four money bills to be acted on, including the supplemental and the farm measure.

Another of these, the District of Columbia bill, is to be cleared today after cracking a deadlock.

The other, a $5 billion public works measure, has been agreed to in conference but is being held up for a number of reasons—one being that several Oregon projects were knocked out. But the leaders said they believed they had settled this by winning agreement to put them back in the supplemental.

Conferees quickly stitched together the $2.3 billion highway financing bill and said it would be sent along to the White House today.

On Record to Hold Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee unanimously approved today a House-passed resolution to put Congress firmly on record for any action needed to uphold allied rights in Berlin.

The resolution states "that the United States is determined to prevent by whatever means may be necessary, including the use of arms, any violation of those rights by the Soviet Union directly or through others, and to fulfill our commitment to the people of Berlin with respect to their resolve for freedom."

Asks Help With Fair Exhibit

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The chairman of a special state's World's Fair Commission said Saturday Arkansas financial leaders are being asked to help underwrite the cost of a state exhibit at the New York World's Fair of 1964-65.

Chairman J. Wythe Walker of Little Rock said appeals had been mailed to about 600 leading businessmen in Arkansas.

Walker said if a favorable expression is not returned, the 1963 legislature may be told to forego participation in the fair.

Plans advanced by the Arkansas Industrial development Commission and the state Publicity and Parks Commission estimate the cost of an exhibit for Arkansas would be $1 million.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus has said he would reluctantly go along with a state contribution of $500,000, but no more.

Delta Kappa

Alpha Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met on Tuesday, Oct. 2 in the home of Mrs. Mildred McPherson with Mrs. Mamie Jackson and Mrs. Belle Kipsch serving as co-hostesses. The meeting was opened with the reading of the collect.

During the business session Mrs. Marie Holt, president, presided. The new committees for the year were announced, and the following committed reports were given: Program, Mrs. Anna Mae Williams; membership, Mrs. Muriel McLarty; professional affairs, Mrs. Mary Nell Turner; publicity, and publications, Mrs. Louise Fuller; finance, Mrs. Edith Brown; and personal growth and service, Mrs. Mildred McPherson. The chapter voted to hold a rummage sale on Saturday, Oct. 21. Three projects were decided upon for the year. The members voted to place a memorial bookcase in the Junior High School Library in memory of the late Mrs. Mina Mae Mason. A tea honoring the retired teachers of the Hope school system will be given by the chapter, and those and cards will be sent to a leper colony abroad.

Refreshments were served to 17 members and one guest, Mrs. Norma Coe of Blevins.

Ruth Class Meets

The Ruth Class of the First Baptist Church met Tuesday night, at 7:30 in the home of Mrs. Claude Sutton for a short business session and installation service. The teacher, Mrs. L. F. Higginson, gave the invocation. Mrs. Rose Gleghorn, president, introduced Mrs. George Balentine who gave a most impressive installation service.

New officers who were elected were: Teacher, Mrs. L. F. Higginson; president, Mrs. Alice Roach; vice-president, Mrs. Claude Sutton; secretary, Mrs. Floy Honear; group leader, Mrs. Rose Gleghorn; Mrs. Edna Britt and Mrs. Reba Hobbs.

Following the service a delightful salad plate with tea was served to 12 members and one guest.

Brookwood PTA Has a Meeting

The Brookwood PTA was called to order by the president, Mrs. Brack Schenck when it met Tuesday evening, Oct. 9. Mrs. T. V. Ward introduced Rev. Gordon Renshaw who brought the devotional. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Fred McElroy, secretary. It was voted to have some form of entertainment for the children on Halloween night.

Mrs. Weisenberger's third grade and Mrs. Caldwell's fifth grade won the room count. For the benefit of the new parents at Brookwood this year Mrs. Elmer Brown, principal, introduced the teachers. Mrs. Frank King spoke briefly on the 5-mill increase in school millage. Mrs. Minor Polk introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Al Graves, Jr., deputy prosecuting attorney, who spoke on the subject of "Juvenile Delinquency."

After the meeting adjourned refreshments were served in the lunchroom.

Coming and Going

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Kyler spent the weekend in Russellville with Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Kyler, Jr. and family.

Mrs. L. A. Arnett has been vacationing in Florida.

Miss Edna Middlebrooks of Little Rock was a recent visitor here with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Breckenridge and Mrs. Josie Patterson, all of Little Rock, and Andy Patterson of the U. S. Army were guests Tuesday and Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Russell.

17 Road Projects Are Authorized

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Highway Commission authorized construction Wednesday of 17 road and bridge projects in 13 counties.

The jobs, by counties, include: Crittenden: Correct drainage problem on Interstate 55 in Marlon; estimated cost $2,500; gravel five miles of Highway 113 from junction with Highway 42 to Pointsett County line $20,000.

Faulkner: Improve 1,550 feet of driveways at Arkansas State Teachers College, $4,000.

Independence: Install water supply system at new area headquarters building site south of Batesville, $35,000.

Pope: Improve a new section of driveway at Arkansas Tech College, $4,000.

White: Replace three bridges with precast concrete slabs and three with multiple-arch culverts on Highway 35 between West Points and Georgetown, $21,000.

The commission also approved a bypass route for U.S. Highway 71 west of Fayetteville. The route runs in an arc from the foot of South Mountain to the University Agricultural Experiment Station.

ARRESTED—Mrs. Iva Kroger, 44, was turned over to the San Francisco police by the FBI in San Diego, Calif., on a fugitive warrant. She disclaimed knowledge as to how the bodies of a man and his wife came to be buried inside her basement garage.

RINGER—Teen-age beauty of the San Blas Islands of Panama displays a pure gold nose ring among other status symbols such as saucer earrings, a necklace of coin and large rings on each of her fingers.

Tower Arrives to Boost GOP Drive

PORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., arrived here today to begin an Arkansas air tour boosting the candidacy of Republican Dr. Kenneth Jones of Little Rock for the Senate.

In a news conference at the airport, Tower said Republican prospects on a national scale look good in the Nov. 6 general election.

He said he was supporting Jones because Jones was a conservative. Asked if he was pushing Jones only in his two-day Arkansas trip, Tower said, "I'm doing what your state organization wants."

Asked what he thought of Jones' 10-point program, Tower said "I haven't had a chance to look at his program but we seem to be basically the same."

Asked to comment on Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., Jones' opponent, Tower said, "I don't think it would be appropriate for me to evaluate a fellow lawmaker."

He said the U. S. should set up a naval blockade of Cuba and shoot if anyone tried to run it. He said he did not approve of the U.S. government putting up money to get the Bay of Pigs invasion, prisoners out of Cuba. Tower called it communist blackmail.

He went on a motor tour of the city and was to speak at a rally shortly after noon.

Magnolia Man Is Convicted

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP)—W. L. Franks, 29, of near Magnolia was convicted of first degree murder Wednesday in the July 1 ax slaying of Hershel Broomfield.

Columbia Circuit Judge Gus Jones sentenced Franks to life imprisonment.

Franks was the first of three Negroes charged in the Broomfield death. Gladys Broomfield, 26, is scheduled to go on trial today. Elsie Ellison, 36, will be tried on completion of the Gladys Broomfield case.

Broomfield was slain at his home about nine miles south of Magnolia.

Proposer Tax

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—An eight-mill tax increase proposal is on the ballot for the December school election in Blytheville. Two and one-half mills of the increase, which would raise Blytheville tax to 45 mills, would be used to finance a $400,000 bond issue for enlargement of preseat facilities.

DOROTHY DIX

Prisoner of Love

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I have been married to a wonderful man for almost three years. We have our own home and one lovely child. I have no complaints save one. My husband doesn't like the idea of me going anywhere at night unless he's with me. I want to join the women's club of which my mother is a member. This club meets one night a month and my husband has to be out on that night anyway. Still he doesn't want me to join even if I would be going to and from the meetings with my own mother and would come home well before him. Whenever I bring up the subject, he either tells me I'm selfish, or says he's going to do what he pleases from now on, or sometimes tells me to do as I please and walks away.

I was married before. My first husband died leaving me with a six-year-old by that marriage. I don't want this marriage to go wrong. My second husband is good except when I suggest going anywhere, concealing where without him. Is it wrong of me to want to join a group of us, which tries to better our community? I'm 25 and sometimes feel as if I'm in jail. —Dejected

Reigns Tighten on Cuba Workers

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The Fidel Castro regime has tightened its control over the working class with the organization of a new unit of taxi cab drivers.

Havana radio, monitored here, said today that a national association of revolutionary taxi cab drivers was established Wednesday night at a workers' meeting. The newscast said that taxi cab drivers engaging in counterrevolutionary activities, concealing where without him. Is it wrong of me to want to join a group of us, which tries to better our community? I'm 25 and sometimes feel as if I'm in jail. —Dejected

Dear Dejected: Even in this enlightened day and age we find an occasional husband who balks at the notion that his wife should engage in any outside activity. Such a man is a throwback to the old-fashioned domestic tyrant who, if the law had permitted it, would literally chain his wife to the stove or sink. This attitude can lurk beneath the surface of a young man as well as a middle-aged one, despite the fact that for decades most people have accepted careers for women and their large-scale participation in civic and philanthropic activities.

In your case, the problem seems to be complicated by the added element of distrust. You have indicated no reason why your husband should lack complete confidence in you, but you seem to sense this by emphasizing that your mother would accompany you to and from the club meetings. No married woman of 25, who has borne two children should have to be shepherded back and forth by a parent as if she were still in the toddler stage.

There are two ways to tackle this situation. You can try the shock technique; take your husband's suggestion to do as you please, attend a club meeting and hope that you will weather his resulting anger. Or you can approach the matter more slowly and subtly, attempting to win his consent by degrees. Suggest that he personally drop you off at the next meeting and pick you up after it's over. If this doesn't work, you might include at your next get-together at home a few of the women who belong to this group, and their husbands as well. Steer the conversation so that some of the men present will express their approval of the club's activities. If your husband won't take your word for it, perhaps he will be unimpressed with the opinions of his fellow men.

Dear Helen: Those 13-year-olds who clamor for lipstick are silly to think make-up is everything. Once I thought the same, but now I know different. My class happens to include the most popular girls in school—among them myself. Few of us ever wear lipstick because it takes time to make-up and we're too busy studying and enjoying life to waste a moment "painting the lily," as you say. The boys like us all the better for being our natural, healthy selves instead of creepy Cleopatras. —Sophomore

Dear Sophomore: Good for you! The average teen-age girl wants to be like other teen-age girls. If some go to extremes and by their very difference attract attention, even if it be adverse, others will imitate. By being natural and as a consequence, popular, you may start a new trend.

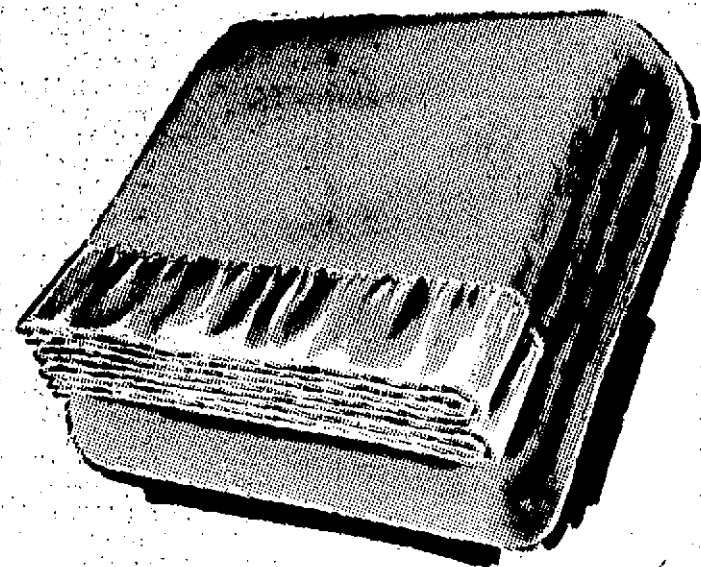

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Ten Commandments for Happiness."

Fryers Good Buy as Usual at Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The usual number of good buys will prevail at most good store counters this week, but perhaps the most prominent will be these:

At fruit counters-apples. Meat counters-beef and broiler-fryer chickens.

Dairy counters-a wide variety of cheeses.

Vegetable counters-depending on the region, avocados, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, lettuce, greens, onions, peppers, potatoes, squash and sweet potatoes.

A crop of 125 million bushels of apples is in prospect, some 3 per cent below 1961 but 11 per cent above average, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Cheese will be abundant because of the one per cent higher milk flow so far this year-the highest on record. October also is Cheese Festival Month.

Broiler-Fryers may be a few cents a pound higher than a year ago because of a slightly below record-level this year. However, the supply is considerably above average.

Agriculture Department reports show good supplies of beef, ranging from stew meats to steaks and roasts. Fresh pork cuts such as chops or loin roasts also will be at palatable prices this week.

Some Living Facts About Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN Associated Press Staff Writer

A Lake City had been successfully built something about which he knew nothing from parts it was not supposed to be made of.

Bruce Fletcher used a strawberry crate, toothpicks, broom straws, rubber bands, sewing thread, glue and paper - and came up with a clock.

It runs. It keeps accurate time - even if the weights that control it are a small bag of rocks and a pair of wire cutters.

Bruce says he knew nothing of clocks before beginning the project.

Jackson County folk have proved that a lot can be done in seven months time.

It was just that long ago they decided to save the county's most valuable landmark, the old courthouse at Jacksonport, from being razed.

They quickly raised $6,938.61 to buy the old building and organized a group to convert it into a museum. Much of this work has been done, even to the partial construction of a caretaker's house.

The last financial report showed $1,751.94 on hand. But some $2,600 will be needed to buy 28 tall windows and five semi-circular fanlight windows for the building.

Several artifacts already have been donated for the museum.

The T. L. Meeks of Fort Smith are proud owners of a rare buffalo nickel-one on which the buffalo has eight legs.

The coin, a 190-S (minted in San Francisco) is comparable in value to the V-nickel. The double-die stamping makes it even more valuable.

Meeks has collected coins for about two years and picked this rare one up from a Fort Smith area collector.

Meeks says coin experts have told him the odd nickel could bring $50,000.

In Jonesboro the other day, when a pump at a city water plant sprung a leak and poured a pint or so of coal-oil lubricant into the main stream of water, residents knew right away what happened. Some complained. But at least one was reminded of days when kids were given a dose of coal oil for a stomach ailment.

Maybe one little girl in that community would prefer fluoride to the coal-oil.

It is told that she came home from school the other afternoon and told her mother, "Our side

Foreign Stock Holders Can Turn Market

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) In judging which way the stock market is likely to jump don't count out the foreign holders of American common stocks.

What they think of the prospects for good or bad times ahead in the United States-the chances of higher profits or of a profit squeeze, the outlook for capital gains or losses, and particularly their views of individual companies-can have important, if limited, effect on prices on Wall Street.

Foreigners hold U.S. common stocks valued currently at nearly $12 billion. Any crisis selling-like that at the time of the Suez Canal pinch on Europe's economy-might be felt in American exchanges.

Usually foreign assessment of the situation here lines up pretty much with American investors' ideas. But the view from a distance sometimes can be different.

In recent months Europeans have been quite free in offering Washington advice on how to handle its monetary and trade policies.

And what Europeans, Canadians and others think of how the American economy is shaping up could be important in setting some future stock market trends.

Americans, in turn, hold some $11 billion in common stock of foreign corporations. In the last few years the volume of these holdings has fluctuated more than has that of foreign investment in American ventures.

U.S. investors woke up late to the opportunities offered by a revived European economy. And recently they have been disappointed in the downturn of European stock prices, like those of American stocks, and have cut their holdings.

International bankers cite the $12 billion of U.S. stocks held abroad and the $11 billion of foreign stocks held here to point the moral that today the financial communities of the world are perhaps as closely tied as are the international political policies.

While stock investments are the easiest to dispose of, direct investment by foreigners in American business also play an increasing role in the U.S. economy. Such investment-foreign controlled enterprises here like Shell Oil, Lipton, Lever Brothers, Bowater Paper-has increased in value three fold in the past 20 years. It now totals $7.5 billion (this is in addition to any common stock ownership).

Americans, however, have about five times that big a direct investment in business enterprises abroad. Such assets now total $4.7 billion.

Right-of-Way Purchase Okay

LITTLE ROCK (AP)-The State Highway Commission authorized today the purchase of three miles of right-of-way owned by the Arkansas and Ozark Railway Corp. for $75,000.

The right-of-way runs north and east of Harrison and is to be purchased for future highway construction. It is a readymade road bed with a 100-foot wide right-of-way.

The commission also programmed three projects for future work.

These are the widening of Highway 65 south of Conway into a four-lane facility, resurfacing of seven miles of Highway 79 between Magnolia and the Louisiana state line and the remodeling of the St. Francis River bridge on Highway 90 in Clay County.

The three projects will cost a combined $196,700.

Williams said she has the best cavities. Her mother chalked it up to the influence of television.

Negro Preacher Gets 21 Years

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)-Tilman Sikes, a 59-year-old Negro preacher, was sentenced to 21 years in prison Tuesday after pleading guilty to a second degree murder charge in Jackson Circuit Court.

Sikes pleaded guilty to the fatal shooting last April 5 of Mrs. Viola McCoy on a farm 12 miles south of Newport.

Officers said he also shot Fred McCoy during an argument at the McCoy farm, then returned to his home in Newport and shot himself. Neither his nor McCoy's wounds were serious.

Financier Sentenced at Jonesboro

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)-U.S. District Judge Gordon E. Young sentenced Arnold E. Edens, 40-year-old Paragould financier, to 18 years in prison today after Edens was convicted Wednesday night on 10 counts of mail fraud and violation of the Securities Exchange Act.

Edens' attorney, Gus Camp, immediately filed notice of appeal. The investment broker was held in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Edens would have to serve only 16 years of the sentence, since two-year sentences on two of the counts are to run concurrently.

Edens made a personal plea to the court before sentencing. He said he believes he is being held responsible for all activities of United Enterprises of Paragould, a firm in which he sold securities.

He was charged with selling securities and pocketing part of the money.

"I did not get the money in question," Edens said. "I do not have it. I cannot understand why I am solely and wholly responsible for taking something I did not receive. My wife is working and I am working. We have lost everything."

"The deliberations of the jury were short," he said. "I am sure they are honest men

Upset Leaves Cats in 2nd in District

There were only two conference games in last week's Div. IAA play but the results of both really put the "middle" to the race and made a wide open run for the crown. Crossett, Eagles, billed "giant killers," upset Hope's Bobcats, and the Malvern Panthers and Camden Panthers battled to a tie.

The results of the action put Camden, 7, and Harding, 6, into first place, but left Hope, Malvern, Fairview, and Magnolia all with a chance to still be considered in the title race. All teams in conference are defeated but Camden, and now they have a tie on their record.

Important games this week may help to clear the cloudy race. Fairview travels to Hope with both teams needing the win to stay in the running. Crossett travels to Camden in hopes of derailing the Panthers.

In other non-conference games Smackover plays at Arkadelphia; Magnolia travels to Haynesville, La.; and Malvern plays at Conway.

Last week's scores: Conference—Crossett 7 Hope 0; Malvern 6 Camden 6. Non-conference—Magnolia 14 DeQueen 13; Warren 3 Smackover 0; Fairview 44 Arkadelphia 13.

In the individual scoring race Fairview's fullback Stanley Watson scored five times in last week's game to take over the leadership with 36 points. David Porterfield of Hope is second with 23. Smith of Crossett and Cole of Malvern, and Eldridge of Crossett follow with 21 points.

In the Extra Point department Porterfield of Hope and Jim Jordan of Camden lead with 7 PAT each.

Fairview's Tommy Burton has scored three different ways this season. He has scored one safety, one field goal, and six extra points. He needs only a touchdown to score in each way possible.

Hope, despite its loss, still leads the conference in Net Yards Rushing and Total Points scored. Fairview has taken over the Defensive leadership against rushing by opponents. Smackover leads in Net Yards Passing and Magnolia leads in defense against passing.

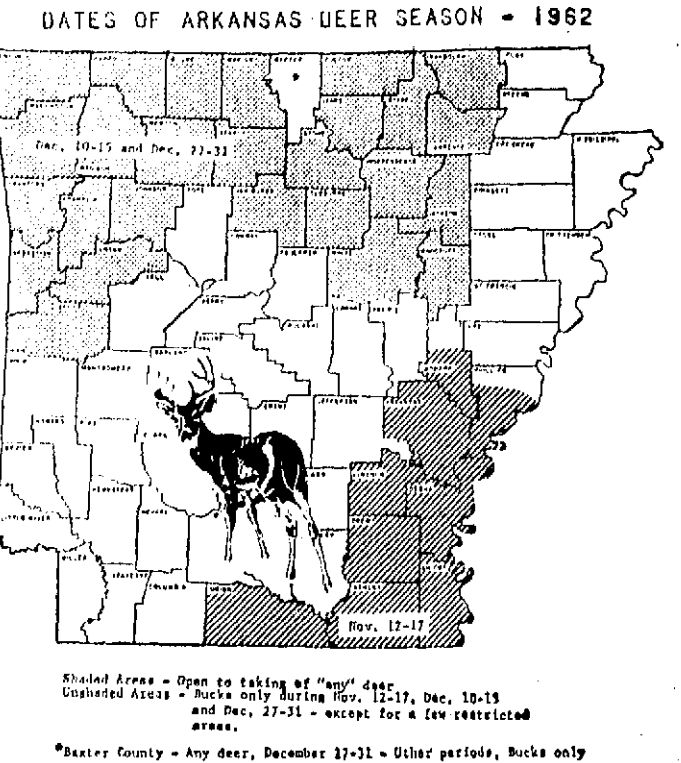

Crossett has allowed only 14 points to be scored on them in five games and despite this record has lost two games one by 7-0 and other by 7-0.

Camden	1	0	1
Hope	2	1	0
Malvern	2	1	1
Fairview	1	1	0
Magnolia	1	1	0
Smackover	1	2	0

Here's Dope on Deer Hunting

Deer-hunters may legally shoot bucks, spikes and does in 35 Arkansas counties this year in at least one of three hunting seasons. Under the "any deer" provisions, there will be three gun periods: Nov. 12-17; Dec. 10-15; and December 27-31. The accompanying map shows how the counties have been divided to harvesting of "any deer." (In Monroe county the provision applies to the part of the county south of Highway 70 only and in Phillips county it applies only to the part of the county south of Highway 20.)

Bucks only may be taken in the rest of the state, except in a few areas that are closed to deer hunting.

Calvin Caldwell, county agent, reports that "only after extensive study by the game biologist did the Game and Fish Commission open these areas to 'either-sex' hunting. The biologist found that many deer ranges in the state were crowded to their carrying capacity and in these crowded ranges the deer die from malnutrition disease."

The limit is two deer, but no more than one may be taken in any one period.

Counties open in November to any deer (with or without dogs) are: Arkansas, Ashley, Chicot, Desha, Drew, Lincoln, Union, Monroe south of Highway 70 and Phillips south of Highway 20. Bucks only may be taken in the rest of the state, except a few areas that are closed to deer hunting.

The following counties are open both December periods, without dogs, for the taking of any deer: Benton, Boone, Carroll, Cleburne, Crawford, Franklin, Fulton, Independence, Izard, Jackson, Johnson, Lawrence and Logan.

Also Madison, Marion, Newton, Randolph, Scott, Searcy, Sebastian, Sharp, Stone, Van Buren, Washington, White and Woodruff.

Baxter county is open for bucks only, any dog, the first two periods and for any deer without dogs the last period. The rest of the state is open to bucks only.

In some parts of the state, any breed of dog may be used. In other parts, it's beagles only. And in some areas, all dogs are prohibited. Following is a breakdown by hunting periods.

Nov. 12-17: No dogs in Clay, Conway south of the Arkansas river, Craighead, Franklin, Greene, Logan, Mississippi, Poinsett, and Sebastian, that part of Yell north of Highway 10, that part of Yell south of Highway 10 beginning at Waveland and extending south to the north boundary of the Ouachita National Forest and west to the Logan county line, the Ozark National Forest, and all state and federal refuges.

Beagles only in Benton, Boone, north of Bull Shoals lake, Carroll, Cleburne, Crawford east of Highway 71, Fulton, Independence, Izard, Jackson, Lawrence, Madison east of Kings river, Marion north of Bull Shoals lake, Newton, Randolph, Sharp, Searcy, Stone, Washington east of Highway 71, White and Woodruff.

Any breed in rest of state that is open to deer hunting.

Dec. 10-15: No dogs in Benton, Boone, Carroll, Clay, Cleburne, Conway south of Arkansas river, Craighead, Crawford, Franklin, Fulton, Greene, Independence, Izard, Jackson, Johnson, Lawrence, Logan, Madison, Marion, Mississippi, Newton and Poinsett. Also, Randolph, Scott, Searcy, Sebastian, Sharp, Stone, Van Buren, Washington, White, Woodruff and that part of Yell north of Highway 10, that part of Yell south of Highway 10, beginning at Waveland and extending south to the north boundary of the Ouachita National Forest and west to the Logan county line, all state and federal refuges and the

Giants Have Back to Wall in Series Play

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP)—It just had to happen. And now the Giants can try to bounce back once more.

San Francisco's own were one game from disaster today following Wednesday's 5-3 New York Yankee victory in New York that gave the American League champions a three-to-two edge in the World Series.

As the rivals prepare for the sixth game here Friday, the Yankees need only one more victory to record their 20th world championship in the last 40 years.

The Giants, of course, must win Friday's as well as the seventh game on Saturday to reign as champions. Since they were forced to come from behind all through the regular season, why should the script be scrapped in the World Series?

They didn't catch the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League race until the final day of the season after trailing since July 9. Then they had to overcome a 4-2 deficit with four runs in the ninth inning to win the final playoff game for the pennant.

The Giants' task is much more difficult now despite the fact the balance of the series will be played in their home park. They must beat southpaw Whitey Ford and right-hander Bill Stafford, although not necessarily in that order. Each owns a victory without having lasted defeat in the series.

Manager Alvin Dark of the Giants named lefty Billy Pierce, his sixth game pitcher, immediately after Wednesday's Yankee victory, which was triggered by Tom Tresh's three-run homer in the eighth inning. The blow by the rookie outfielder, off right-hander Jack Sanford, snapped a 2-2 tie and gave Ralph Terry his first World Series triumph after four defeats, one in the current series.

Dark, however, delayed naming the rest of the lineup until he learned the identity of the Yankee starting pitcher. New York manager Ralph Houk said his pitcher would be either Ford or Stafford, but declined to name him until after the workout this afternoon.

"I still think we'll win it," said Dark, despite odds making the Yankees 3 1/2-1 favorites. "I've said all along the series will go seven games and we'll win it. I feel we can beat them two straight."

Houk did no gloating. He is fully aware that this has been a terrific struggle so far, with very little to choose between the two teams. Going into the seventh inning, neither team has had more than a one-run lead in any of the five games.

The Yankees have collected 38 hits to 37 for the Giants. Tresh's homer Wednesday was only the second for the Yankees. The Giants have hit five off Yankee pitching. Only in the first game has either team hit in double figures.

Two of the Yankees' hits Wednesday were "bleeders." One was a Texas League double by Tresh that shortstop Jose Pagan dropped after a long run. The other was a topped single by Richardson half way to the mound. The first two Yankee runs crossed the plate on a wild pitch and a passed ball. Pagan scored the first two Giant runs. He singled and scored on Chuck Hiller's double in the third and homered in the fifth.

Sanford retired the first batter in the eighth but never got another batter. After fanning Terry for his 10th strikeout, he yielded singles to Tony Kubek and Richardson. Then came Tresh's homer and Sanford was finished.

Broyles Says Porkers Lack Zip

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Coach Frank Broyles continued to complain Wednesday about lack of zip in his Arkansas Razorbacks as they drilled again on defense against Baylor's pro-style attack.

The Porkers have worked mainly on defense for three straight days. They'll hold a tapering off workout today.

Baylor scampers into Razorback Stadium Saturday for the game that has jinxed the Porkers for the past three years—the first Southwest Conference match on Arkansas soil after the Texas Christian game.

Texas tipped the Porkers 13-12 at Little Rock in 1959. Baylor smashed them 28-14 in 1960. Texas did it again 35-7 last year.

Each season Arkansas lost only the one league game. It snared the title in 1959 and 1961 and won it outright in 1960.

Discussing the Baylor offense, which puts heavy emphasis on the passing of Don Trull, Broyles said, "It (defense) is too much to learn in one week. The players will have to do some thinking off the practice field if we are to learn it."

It was a familiar brand of pessimism for Broyles who has taken dark views of Arkansas' chances before each of its first three games. Apparently the Porkers have saved their zip for the game whistle. They beat Oklahoma State 34-7, Tulsa 42-14 and TCU 42-14 for the most rousing start in Razorback history.

The Baylor passing threat should also be a familiar obstacle. Oklahoma State, Tulsa and TCU all had reputations as passing teams.

Arkansas was less effective in stopping the overhead game than in halting ground attacks, but the Hogs' own lightning-quick offense made defensive emphasis unnecessary.

Baylor has lost a pair and so brings one of the worst Bear records into Razorback Stadium. Houston pinned the Bruins 19-0 and Pittsburgh larrupped them 24-14.

Tigers Meet Old Rivals Here Sat.

The Yergert Tigers will meet their rivals, Washington High Lions, of Texarkana, here Saturday night at Hammons stadium.

The Tigers are beginning to come on stronger in the later half of the season and showed well against Hot Springs in a 0-0 tie in their last outing.

The Washington High Lions are strong in their aerial attack and when their 235 pound fullback hits off tackle there's an explosion.

The Yergert Tigers will be out this time to stop these two threats of the Lions and turn them into a defeat.

In the last two outings of the Tigers QB Horace Phillips and tackle James Sullivan have turned in some good offensive and defensive play. The Tigers are a little slow getting their offense to click, but this week the Tigers will be looking for Henry Williams and Archie Frezell to open their Aerial attack.

Ronald Stuart now feeding the play of this position as blocking back may turn out to be a short in the Lions side. Fullback Billy Williams, who is a 9th grader, was injured in the last game, but is working hard to be ready for the Lions.

A few linemen who are expected to show up in the Tigers' next game are guards Criner, Daniels and Graves; tackles Stuart, Relford and Maulding.

The Tigers are still thirsty for a victory and are going all out to reach to win column. The Tiger fans are urged to come out and boost the Tigers to victory.

Troops Leaving Mississippi

WASHINGTON (AP) About 6,600 more regular Army troops will begin moving out of the University of Mississippi tension area today, the Army announced.

This will leave approximately 5,700 Army and National Guard troops, all but 300 or 400 remaining in the Oxford, Miss., area, site of the university. The 300 or 400 will stay on at Memphis, Tenn., to carry on support of the units in Oxford.

The 5,700 regulars and National Guardsmen still retained on duty in the tension-torn Oxford area compares with a peak strength of about 23,600 mustered following the rioting at Oxford Sept. 30 when Negro James H. Meredith was enrolled at the university.

Fort Smith Mayor Bob Broshier and James Clendenen, Arkansas civilian aide to the secretary of the Army, will be guests of the general at the ceremonies.

Wants to Study Refuses Release

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Authorities at the Arkansas Girls Training School say a 15-year-old Morrilton girl has turned down a chance to be released because she wants to continue an art course.

The girl's father had filed a petition for her release in Pulaski Chancery Court.

Chancellor Guy Williams asked the girl what she wanted to do. She said, "I love my father very much, but I won't finish my art studies."

Williams denied the petition.

Leaders in College Grid Statistics

A trio of mighty miles—none over 170 pounds—lead the three major individual offense departments in college football today, according to figures released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

Edlon Fortie, a 167-pound senior tailback who is the sparkplug of Brigham Young University's attack, leads in total offense with 896 yards in four games. He is 232 yards ahead of Jerry Gross, Detroit's 168-pound quarterback, who tops the passers.

Pistol Pete Pedros, the 5-foot-7, 160-pounder from West Texas State, is the rushing leader with 621 yards, 94 more than Fortie.

Terry Baker, Oregon State's all-around quarterback, is third in total offense with 843 yards in three games. He is also the third-ranked passer, having picked up 560 yards through the air.

Jim Pilot of New Mexico State is the No. 3 rusher with 373 yards in four games, while Maryland's Dick Shiner is rated behind Gross in the passing department.

Urges Approval of Stamp Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Wholesale Grocers Association urged Gov. Orval E. Faubus again Tuesday to approve a triple food stamp program in dependence County.

William L. Humphries, secretary-treasurer of the association, presented the appeal to Faubus and said he was confident of favorable action.

Faubus was noncommittal.

The governor has under consideration a proposal to substitute a food stamp plan for the surplus commodities program in Independence County.

Under the plan, needy persons would receive stamps which they could exchange for food in commercial stores.

JFK Program Had Trouble in Congress

By JAMES BARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) President Kennedy's campaign to get more Democrats elected to Congress in November raises a natural question: How did he do with this present one run by Democrats?

The answer has to be mixed. In this Congress, where Democrats far outnumber Republicans, Kennedy seemed due for a robust flattening. Then, with members anxious to get home for the elections, Congress picked up speed and did important work.

It is still here, though, winding up, after the longest session since 1951 in the Korean War. That year it quit Oct. 20.

In a democratic society like this it would be astonishing, perhaps lethal, if Congress were so submissive to the executive it gave him precisely and without question everything he asked.

This one didn't with Kennedy. To get much or most of what he wanted, he had to accept compromise measures.

In a very broad sense Kennedy handled both houses of Congress, not like the scrappy and heat-knocking President Truman, but like President Eisenhower.

He learned over backward to avoid personal conflicts even with those in the Capitol who were wrecking some of his programs totally or tearing big holes in them.

But his administration put in a lot of work behind the scenes, with his aides working on individual members of Congress, sometimes with pathetic results.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the very powerful House Ways and Means Committee, was totally against Kennedy's medical care program for the aged. That was it. The program died.

There were efforts Kennedy could have made—like broadcasts to try to rally popular support for his program, hoping the people would put pressure on senators and representatives. He did little of this.

He tried it once on the medical care program but talked off the cuff and the talk was far from his best.

It's true, as he's saying now in his campaigning around the country, that the Republicans in Congress repeatedly harpooned many of his programs.

But so did a lot of his own party members, particularly Southern Democrats who teamed up with Republicans again and again to frustrate him.

If the Democrats had stuck together, voting as a party, they could have drowned the outnumbered Republicans.

Besides medical care, two other major Kennedy programs were simply slaughtered: his proposal for a new department of urban affairs and housing and his request for federal aid to colleges.

Last year Congress ignored his program of federal aid to public (but not Catholic) schools although it can hardly be said he worked overtime for that one.

Kennedy fared most perfectly in his requested authority for the government to buy up to $100 million in U.N. bonds to overcome a U.N. deficit, mostly from its expenses in the Congo.

His biggest, perhaps most far-reaching success came with congressional approval of a broad new trade and tariff-cutting program he will need in dealing with Europe's Common Market. The program had wide bipartisan support in and out of Congress.

This was also a prime example of how he had to compromise to get most of what he wanted. Over his opposition Congress in the trade bill put restrictions on trade with Yugoslavia and Poland.

Here were other major programs, in each of which Kennedy had to accept some compromise: Foreign aid—The House approved a compromise of $9,928,900,000, a cut of $1,032,400,000 below his original request. The strict controls he had in mind.

Tech Dominates College Loop

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—League-leading Arkansas Tech continues to dominate Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference team statistics, but a 557-yard performance against Memphis Navy boosted Arkansas A&M into second place last week.

Tech is tops in total offense with an average of 287.5 yards a game and in rushing with a 206-yard average. Harding leads in passing with 98.5.

A&M's total offense average is 241.2 and its rushing figure is 197.5. The Aggies gained 446 yards rushing and 111 passing against the Sailors.

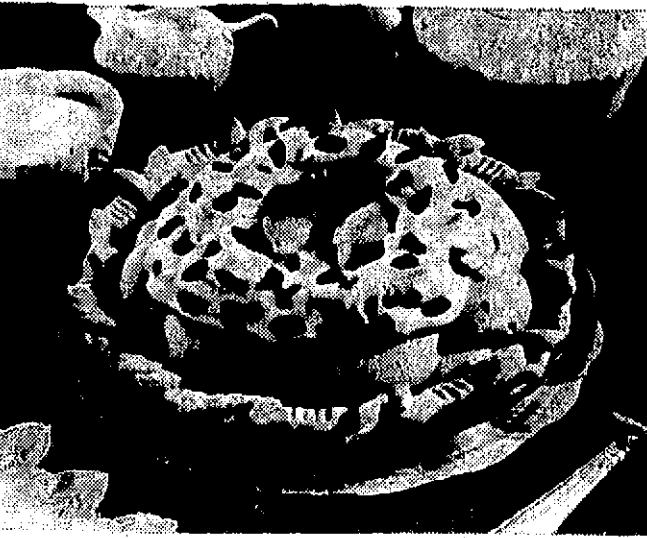

Tech also leads in defense with opponents averaging 187 yards a game, 130.5 rushing and 56.5 passing. State Teachers is the best in pass defense with foes averaging only 24 yards a game.

Senate was expected to send the bill to the White House today.

Taxes—Kennedy asked a 7 percent tax credit for business firms for investment in new equipment. Congress gave him that. But it turned down pleas for withholding the income tax on dividends and interest.

Farm bill—The strict-control farm bill he wanted was tossed aside. Congress finally gave him a farm bill much short of the Stunning, Strawberry—And New!

There's a bit of real springtime in this fall recipe—it is the wonderful fragrance when you open the package of gelatin... you'll enjoy this heavenly pie with frozen strawberries added to the gelatin. We know you will serve it often—on request!

Strawberry Foam Pie
1 regular size package (3 ounces) strawberry flavor gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup cold water
1 package (10 ounces) quick-frozen strawberry halves
1 cup whipping cream
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
Pistachio nuts, optional

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water and frozen block of strawberries. Stir until berries begin to thaw and separate and mixture starts to thicken. Set bowl of gelatin in larger bowl of ice and water. Beat until mixture is light and fluffy—about 3 minutes. Whip cream and fold half of it into gelatin mixture. Pour into pie shell. Chill until firm. At serving time, decorate with remaining whipped cream and a sprinkling of pistachio nuts.

Pharmacy Week Over the Nation

This is National Pharmacy Week and a time to consider the role a pharmacist plays in today's society.

The usual contact is with the community pharmacy. It is to him that prescription orders for prescribed drugs are taken. His pharmacy serves the community as a health center and his education and experience make him the source of information regarding the use, handling and storage of health needs. He readily answers questions expertly and his services are available around the clock.

Another role he plays is as an authoritative drug advisor to the physician. He serves the physician as an immediate source of information regarding the latest advances in drug therapy. Over 400 new drugs are introduced each year.

Some 120,000 licensed pharmacists in this country are engaged in community practice—in hospitals, within the drug industry, research, drug manufacturing and wholesale companies and many are employed within the government complex, local, state, and nation.

Thus, pharmacists, to a degree, have an influence in everyday life and are important members of the U. S. health team. National Pharmacy Week is a tribute to these men and women.

Harvest Activity on Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Harvesting activity throughout the state increased with favorable weather the past week, the Crop Reporting Service said Tuesday.

The agency's weekly crop report said about 45 per cent of the cotton crop has been picked and yields are good.

Rice is about two-thirds harvested with yields good on most areas. The soybean harvest is expected to pick up this week. Only limited acreage has been combined so far.

Prelates of Catholic Church Meet

By GERALD MILLER

VATICAN CITY (AP)—With Roman Catholic prelates from around the world gathering for the 21st ecumenical council, prayers were said today for Catholics beyond the Communist Iron Curtain.

At a solemn ceremony in the Basilica of St. Mary Major, Juan Cardinal Landazuri Ricketts, archbishop of Lima, Peru, said the "church of silence" would participate in the spiritual victory that would result from a successful council.

"The church of silence" is the name given by the Vatican to its faithful in Communist lands. Relations between the church and the Communist countries contributed a somber note on the eve of the council opening Thursday in St. Peter's Basilica.

There was an air of expectation and hope for the meeting that will bring together 2,600 cardinals, archbishops, bishops and other prelates. It is the church's first general convocation in 92 years.

But one great body of prelates was absent. At least 170 bishops and archbishops in Red-ruled countries did not or could not make the trip to Rome. Only about 50 prelates and their aides had managed the trip.

Many refugees from communism attended the Mass and then preached a sermon that underlined the suffering of Christians through the ages and in Communist countries today.

He said the prayers today were for "mercy to sinners and persecutors, comfort and relief to those who live today most intensely the passion of Christ... light for the souls consecrated to God but impeded in following their ministry... hope for the faithful unable to freely manifest their faith... and for the success of the council."

A chorus from the Ukrainian Seminary in Rome sang during the service. The singers were the children or refugees from the Soviet Regime.

Halloween's The Time For Raisin Jack O'Lantern Cupcakes

All will be in readiness for Halloween celebration when you have a plate of these saucy faced raisin cupcakes on hand. They're wonderful for autumn parties or snacks—as well as the trick or treat crowd. Serve with refreshing pineapple juice.

Little goblins will enjoy filling their sacks with little packs of California raisins, too. The 1 1/2 ounce cartons are sold individually or in bundles of six in many favorite grocery stores.

Raisin Funny Face Cakes
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 cup dark or golden raisins
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
2 eggs, beaten
2 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
Butter Sugar Icing
Orange food coloring
Dark raisins for "faces"

Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy; blend in raisins, orange peel and eggs. Resift flour with baking powder and salt. Add alternately with milk to creamed mixture, blending well. Pour into greased cup cake pans. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Cool. Frost with butter sugar icing, tinted orange. Make Halloween faces with raisins for eyes, nose and mouth. Makes about 15 cakes.

How to Be Prize Winning Writer

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Want to be a professional prize-winning writer?

Here's all you do, says a professional, prize-winning writer named Rod Sterling.

First, you've got to be born with writing talent. ("A writer can be taught technique, but he can never learn to be talented.")

Then you've got to develop a style, by studying the work of good authors. ("Style is something you develop by copying the style of somebody who writes well. For while you're a cheap imitator, I was a Hemingway imitator. Everything I wrote at first began 'It was hot.' Later, by osmosis or something, you break away and into your own style. Then you're a writer!")

Now that you have inherent talent and a style, you have to have a well-rounded education. ("What are you going to write about? Not grammar, or literature — you're going to write about people, places and things. So you study psychology, sociology, history, and all the sciences you can cram in.")

You're out of school now, talented, with a writing style and a basic knowledge of people, places and things; the time has come to see, feel and become emotionally involved with the people, places and things you've read about. ("You've got to have experience with people, to study their attitudes and differences; color in drama doesn't mean the color of a guy's shirt.")

Okay, now you've got the basics and what do you do with them? ("Work, damn it.")

The amiable young author of the above advice is the most famous writer in television. His home in Pacific Palisades, Calif., is shiny with "Emmys" won for creativity and diligence. He was the first author to present an original 30-minute play for TV — the famed "Requiem For a Heavyweight," which opens on Broadway as a big-screen film Oct. 1.

To show how tough it is to be a successful writer, Rod Sterling worked two years on the TV play — which was based on his many years' experiences as a golden gloves boxer and a string of 31 amateur fights in the army. Then he wrote six scripts for a Broadway stage production of the play, before his partners decided it would make a better movie. He wrote four screenplays of "Requiem" before he was satisfied with the result.

Sterling is famed for many other dramas, notably "Patterns," "The Comedian" and a series which he refers to as "strictly a wing proposition," called "The Twilight Zone." ("It's fun to write — you get your hero in the burning building and you can do anything you feel like, to get him out. And nobody can question your editorial integrity. They say, 'that couldn't really happen,' and you say, 'ah but it could — this is the Twilight Zone.'")

Sterling had no idea he wanted to be a writer until after World War II, in which he served as a paratrooper and demolitions expert. Afterward he went to Antioch College in Ohio and "felt a compulsion to write about war. It was a catharsis. Then, thank God, I became interested in other things and expanded."

These days he is teaching play-

Two Killed at Police Barricade

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A Fort Smith college student and a Van Buren woman were killed when their car crashed into a street barricade in Fort Smith Monday night.

One other person was seriously injured.

Police identified the dead as Harold Herschel Clay Jr., 20, and Mrs. Mary Ella Barnes, 20. The third person, Tommy Parker, 19, of Spiro, Okla., was in serious condition at a Fort Smith hospital.

Police said the accident apparently occurred when the driver of the car attempted to pass the barricade. The car spun out of control and overturned, throwing three occupants out.

Pioneer of Crossett to Retire

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — One of Crossett's pioneer citizens will retire as postmaster Friday.

He is Phillip Gates Sr., who came to Crossett in 1901 when Crossett was nothing more than a tent city.

His father, Edgar Gates was getting a sawmill erected and the city laid out.

Gates' family moved to Crossett shortly after. He completed high school here spent several years in college and, in 1935, became postmaster. During Gates' 26-year tenure, the city's postoffice has moved from a third to first class rating and into a modern building.

Gates said that when he took over as postmaster, the office had only four employees. It now has 20.

He said in 1935 mail service went to 100 homes as compared to 2,000 today. One rural carrier in 1935 served 150 homes. Today, there are three rural routes out of Crossett, serving about 1,000 homes.

Only once has the mail been seriously delayed, Gates recalls.

This incident occurred a number of years ago when the Montrose-Hamburg highway was being built — and a seige of bad weather set in.

Nothing passed either way for four days.

As for retirement, Gates plans to visit his three sons and grandchildren and he plans to pursue the hobby that he started when he was 12 — stamp collecting.

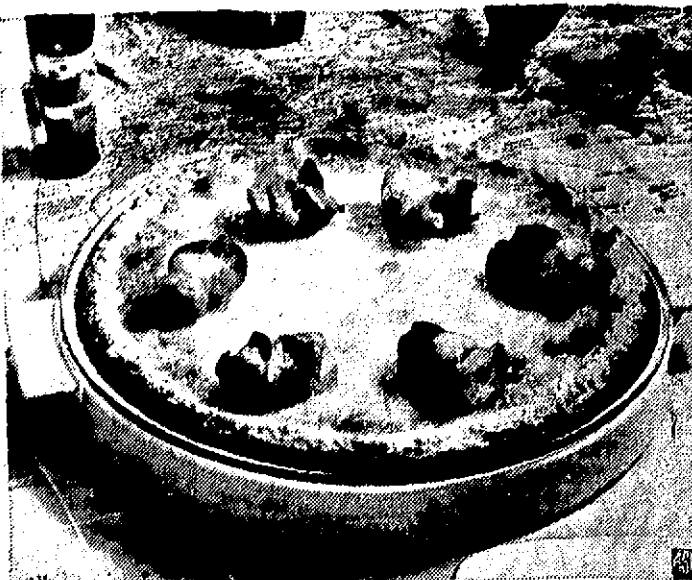

The retiring postmaster will be honored Friday night at a dinner. One of the oldest postmasters in length of service in Arkansas, Gates will be presented a certificate of meritorious service by W. H. Halbert, deputy regional director of the St. Louis postal department.

writing at his alma mater, earning $3,000 for the six-month semester — the identical sum he earned for two hours' work on a television commercial last year. Why? "I'm learning more about young people — gee, I never thought I'd use that phrase — than they're learning from me."

The two "young people" closest to Sterling are his daughters, Judy, 10, and Nan, seven. He'd like them to be writers but so far there's no indication they were born talented. "Course it's too early to tell, but I want them to do what they've got the talent for. Right now, they're only interested in horses, which isn't so bad."

"So maybe they'll be bookies?" It's easier than writing. . .

"Swiss Cheese Bake"

Pay tribute to your ancestors or those of your guests by giving an international dinner. Take neutral Switzerland for your starting point by serving "Swiss Cheese Bake" as the main dish. This inexpensive Swiss cheese pie in a delicious crisp cracker crust agrees readily with both plain and fancy trimmings. Garnished with simple bacon curls, it's a nutritious treat for family meals and an international interest stimulator for children. Join the "UN Day Family Meal" tradition by serving it on United Nations Day (October 24th). Here's the easy way to make it:

Swiss Cheese Bake

1 1/4 cups fine Krispy Cracker crumbs, about 1/2 of 7 1/2-oz. package
6 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 cup chopped green pepper
1 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups milk, scalded
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 pound Switzerland Swiss cheese, grated
Bacon, optional

Crush crumbs with rolling pin between waxed paper. Blend with melted butter or margarine. Press mixture evenly over bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate, leaving small edge around top. Sauté the peppers and onions in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine until just tender. Spread over crumb crust. Pour milk over the eggs; add salt, paprika and cheese. Stir well and pour over the pepper and onions. Bake in slow oven (325°F) for 40 to 45 minutes or until silver knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Serve warm or cold. Garnish with bacon curls or crushed bacon if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

XXXIV

"Make your final request real fast," the sheriff said to the condemned man.

"Don't tie my legs," said Ivey. "You don't have to do that to me."

The sheriff hesitated a moment, then shook his head. "They got to be tied."

Youngblood seized the upper part of the man's legs and worked the rope down until the prisoner could not separate his feet. Then the deputy took another loop around the ankles and tied them in a hard knot.

Andy and Slim were supporting all the man's weight now. Youngblood helped them support the struggling form while the sheriff slipped the noose over the man's head and tightened it.

The two deputies released Ivey on the center of the trap door and stepped aside. The condemned man was starting to turn, cursing, moving as well as he could with his bound feet, when the sheriff's arm crashed down on the wooden lever which released the trap.

Ivey fell four feet and stopped with a snap that shook the scaffold.

Then finally from the crowd came a sound as of air being expelled, perhaps a sigh, followed by a widespread mumbling, the sound of a multitude of voices speaking low. People began to move about again. Some in the street headed back toward the center of town.

The lawmen descended from the scaffold. Arrangements had already been made for the care of the hanged man's body, and Youngblood was glad that he would have nothing to do with it.

The sheriff looked tired as he faced his men. "Lieutenant Ruth, you want to go with me?"

"Yes sir."

"I believe I'll take you along too, Slim. Get us two horses. I want my paint. Andy, you better catch up a horse and run down our patrols. Tell them to come on in. It's all over."

"Let me go," Youngblood said. "Slim and I could go with the lieutenant."

The sheriff looked at him almost as if he had forgotten him and grinned. "No, we can handle it."

Youngblood only now sensed the full meaning in the sheriff's words. "It's all over." He had asked his superior that night a month ago. "How bad do you need me?" and the sheriff had said, "I need you real bad." But now it was all over.

He felt somewhat left out until the sheriff said, "I tell you what you can do for me, Youngblood. Get off some wires on Torres. You decide where to send them and just sign my name. And if we're not back by night, make sure Cobb feeds my stock, will you? You can tell him I said to start tearing this thing down to He can stack the lumber in the shed."

After the sheriff had gone, Youngblood went about his assigned task of composing the wires on Torres and delivering them to the telegraph office.

His mind was a maze of conflicting impulses and uncertainties. He wanted to run to his home, and yet it was only a guess on his part that the doctor had been called for Lila.

He wanted to clear up the uncertainly but was reluctant too, because he could envisage only two possibilities: that it was not yet time and he would have to wait, or else that at home he would find bad news.

And he had the completely illogical feeling that he must guard the jail in the absence of the sheriff. The weeks of vigilance when his time had not been his part of the man's legs and worked the rope down until the prisoner could not separate his feet. Then the deputy took another loop around the ankles and tied them in a hard knot.

It had been a horrible necessity, not a thing to be ashamed of. Indeed, the whole matter, the fact that they had done their duty when it seemed impossible, had taken courage. Yet they had deliberately taken a man's life, and the sordid details of it stayed too fresh in his mind.

When he came back to the sheriff's office after sending the telegrams, he hunted up Elmer Cobb and set him to the task of dismantling the gallows.

The little man began to tap around half-heartedly, with the obvious intention of making a week's work out of it. Youngblood took up one of his tools, a single-bit axe, and said to the little carpenter, "Stand clear." He went onto the platform and set about savagely with the butt end of the axe, knocking apart the upper structure, letting the timbers lay where they fell. Cobb stood back with eyes and mouth wide. He made low exclamations of astonishment when the timbers crashed down.

Venus Shot to Miss by More Miles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration revised earlier estimates for its Venus-bound Mariner 2 today and said the space probe will miss the planet by 20,000 miles instead of 9,000.

The space agency said this is still within the pie-shaped target area extending from 5,000 to 40,000 miles from Venus. "Well within the region where the scientific planetary experiments are expected to be very effective."

In the first report on scientific information gathered by the space probe, NASA scientists disclosed that:

1. The rate of flow of very small particles in deep space is at least 1,000 pounds less than that reported by instruments aboard satellites orbiting near the earth. They said this shows that "We are measuring some sort of concentration near the earth, a fact of significance for man in space programs."

2. There apparently always is at least some plasma or atmospheric gas flowing in interplanetary space—at least, there has been for the month of Mariner 2 measurements taken thus far.

3. Measurements taken by the Venus probe are consistent with those taken by Pioneer V, thus tending to support confidence in results obtained by both spacecraft.

4. In addition to the magnetic fields radiating outward from the sun, there are transverse magnetic fields at right angles to those from the sun. These transverse fields may impede solar radiation.

The craft was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Aug. 27.

To date the space probe has traveled about 50 million miles. At 10 a.m. EST it was 7.25 million miles from the earth, traveling at a speed of 7,500 miles an hour with relation to the earth or 65,000 miles an hour with relation to the sun, faster than the earth rotates around the sun.

MOSCOW (AP) — The newspaper Pravda demanded today that Communist party organizers and plant managers speed up labor productivity to narrow the gap between the Soviet Union and the United States.

For the first three years of the current seven-year plan, the Communist party paper said, productivity increased by 18 per cent in industry and 23 per cent in building. Now, the paper claimed, Soviet labor productivity equals that of German, French and British labor, but it still lags behind that of the United States.

Pravda said in many cases salary increases were running ahead of increases in productivity. Only by increasing labor productivity above salaries, the paper said, can any reserve of capital be built up.

Apple N' Spice N' All Things Nice

This richly-textured, delicately-flavored treat is made from one of the three new Duncan Hines Dutch-Topping Cake Mixes. The Apple slices and a delicious topping come right in the package.

Do you enjoy a light, moist breakfast, dinner-dessert, or bake cake, served warm from the oven and savored with a cup of tea or coffee?

Then you will enjoy all of the three new cake mixes now on your grocery shelf: Duncan Hines Dutch-Topping Cake Mixes—Apple N' Spice, Butterscotch Crunch, and Cinnamon Raisin.

These new cake mixes take only 60-seconds of easy hand mixing plus a few seconds to sprinkle on the topping. Cake and topping are baked together, to be served together—a perfect sweet treat for breakfast, dinner-dessert, or bake cake. To make a dinner-dessert, you might serve Apple N' Spice cake with a creamy sauce. Bake the cake according to directions on the package. Cut cake into squares while still warm from the oven and serve with this delicious sauce. Serves 6 to 8.

Cinnamon Nut Cream Sauce

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine all ingredients in a small bowl and chill thoroughly.

2 Arkansas Cagers to Play for U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 6-foot-4 jump shot artist from Arkansas Tech and a flashy 5-foot-10 Negro guard from Arkansas A&M were among 12 small college basketball stars named Tuesday to compete in two games against a touring Russian team.

The Tech star is senior Kenny Saylor who has virtually rewritten the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference scoring record book.

The A&M ace is junior James Mack Allen, a little dandy from West Palm Beach, Fla., and the shortest man on the all-star squad.

Saylor leads Pyatt High School to a Class B state championship in 1959 before enrolling at Tech. His present AIC marks are most points during a regular season (740) and the best per game average (30.8), both set in the past season.

In three years Saylor has scored 1,655 points and he should break the conference career mark of 1,655 (set by E. C. O'Neal of Tech) by mid-season.

AM&N officials feel they were able to lure Allen away from Florida because coaches there felt he was too short for college ball.

He averaged 26.8 points a game as an A&M freshman and 28.7 as a sophomore. He has 1,243 points in 48 games over the two year period. Twice he was named to the All Southwest Athletic Conference (Negro) squad.

In high school he was named three times to the Negro all-state team and made all-nation twice in the Negro national high school tournament at Nashville, Tenn.

Both Saylor and Allen hit the goal with 50 per cent accuracy. Allen once sank 28 free shots in 28 tries in a tournament.

The small college all-star club, selected by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, will play the Russians Nov. 16 at Sioux Falls, S.D., and either Nov. 14 or Nov. 19 at a site to be announced.

An eight-game tour for the Russians is being sponsored by the Amateur Athletic Union and the State Department. A team of AAU stars will provide opposition in the other six games.

The small college squad includes two players from Pan American College at Edinburg, Tex.—6-foot-9 Lucious Jackson and 6-4 Jim McGurk.

Others are Connie McGuire (6-9) of Southeast Oklahoma, Phil Shirk (6-3), of Texas A&I, Jim Boutin (6-5), of Lewis and Clark, Larry Augler (6-6) of Ashland (Ohio) College, Willis Reed (6-7) of Grambling, Roger Strickland (6-5)

Chili Spices A Halloween Party

Planning a Halloween party for your offspring and their pals before an evening of trick-or-treating? Make up a large pot of appetizing chili, spiced with Tabasco, the zesty liquid red pepper. Kids will sponoon up every bit of this luscious chili, served with crisp crackers and fresh milk. Keep the Tabasco bottle handy as some may like their chili even hotter!

Tabasco Chili

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| 6 tablespoons butter | 2 cans (6 ounces each) |
| margarine or salad oil | tomato paste |
| 4 medium onions, sliced | 1 tablespoon salt |
| 2 medium green peppers, cut in strips | 1 teaspoon Tabasco |
| 1 cup coarsely cut celery | 2 tablespoons chili powder |
| 3 pounds ground beef | 3 cans (20 ounces each) |
| 3 cans (20 ounces each) | kidney beans |
| tomatoes | |

Melt butter; add onion, green pepper and celery and cook until onion is tender, but not brown. Add ground beef; cook until meat loses red color, breaking up with a fork. Add tomatoes, tomato paste, salt, Tabasco and chili powder. Cover; simmer 45 minutes. Add kidney beans; simmer 20 minutes longer. Serve with crisp salted crackers. YIELD: 12 servings.

Four Hurt in El Dorado Fire

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — A flash fire at the American Oil Co. refinery Tuesday night burned four employees, three critically.

The refinery did not catch fire.

Plant officials identified the critically injured as Jack Johnson, 47, L. E. Burge, 38, and E. L. Bell, 46. Johnson was burned about the head and chest, Burge on the body and Bell from the waist down.

Johnson and Burge live in El Dorado, Bell at Huttig.

Doyle Hodges, 35, of Smackover was burned on the hands and arms trying to remove burning clothing from his fellow workers, officials said.

Officials said it occurred in a crude running unit, a device which separates crude oil under high temperatures. The men were steaming a part of the unit when the fire erupted.

Gasoline fumes from a bleeder pipe apparently was ignited from a nearby furnace, officials said.

Postmaster of Year Named

WILSON, Ark. (AP)—Mrs. Alma Tyler Harnden, Wilson postmaster, has been named Arkansas Postmaster of the Year by the League of Arkansas Postmasters.

The state honor was given on the basis of Mrs. Harnden's work in the postoffice, the postmasters' organization and the community.

A postmaster at Wilson for the last 18 years, Mrs. Harnden holds various district and area offices of postmaster associations and arranged for the seminars for postal officials at Arkansas State College and at Wilson.

Record Enrollment

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A record enrollment of 7,899 students if reported at the University of Arkansas. The figure includes registration on the main Fayetteville campus, the Medical Center and Graduate Institute of Technology in Little Rock and extension centers in Little Rock, Magnolia and Fort Smith. The Fayetteville enrollment is 6,867, an increase of 479 from last year.

Everybody Tries to Be Psychiatrist

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK. — Everybody seems to want to be a lay psychiatrist these days.

It's become great sport to "analyze" people, to judge their characters, figure out what makes them tick (or clang, as the case may be). It is not a nice trend, because the amateur analyst persists in conveying his impression to the next amateur analyst, and this way lies unfounded, potentially devastating gossip.

But since the trend is upon us, researchers have been analyzing people who analyze people, and some of their test results (as published in "Catholic digest") are these:

The happy man is the best judge of character, according to studies at the University of California. The unhappy person tends to see his own weaknesses in others. (Unfortunately, of course, it is the unhappy person who spels his opinions.)

People tend to judge others' characters with an eye to affluence, report researchers at San Francisco state college. Thus, a wealthy person is more likely to be judged happy, healthy and well adjusted — while a poor man appears, to the lay analyst, to be unhappy or maladjusted. (The pseudo psychiatrist has silly ideas.)

Women, says a Rutgers University professor, are better than men at the fiendish art of allegedly "sizing up" the personalities of others. Men are likely to take people at face value, while women are eager to get "underneath" the superficialities. (The snoopery sex.)

But neither sex — women or men — is a very good judge of a close friend, or a deadly enemy. "We have great difficulty in understanding those we strongly like," reports Dr. Verne Kallejian, psychologist, "and the same difficulty occurs with those we dislike, since we tend to see in them characteristics which we like or dislike in ourselves."

So to sum up, nobody is a good judge of the character of a person he either likes or dislikes.

He is capable only of rightly judging the character of a person in whom he is uninterested, with whom he is uninvolved emotionally.

And where's the fun, or curiosity impetus, in that?

If only "happy" people can analyze human nature correctly, and if even these "happy" people can look with objectivity only on those persons they neither like nor dislike... obviously the sports of lay psychiatry is nothing but a potentially harmful pastime indulged in by potentially gossipy people.

Let's give up and go back to self-analysis.

If that's too depressing, there's always mah-jong.

A letter comes from a Philadelphia another. It's in defense of kids:

"I am sick, sore and tired of hearing of bad kids who have been helped along the way by complaining, grouchy adults. 'Go play ball somewhere else!' — is a window really that expensive? 'Don't sit on those steps!' — SINCE when did cement crack? 'Get those likes out of here!' — but why? These commands are harsh. Never polite. And if a child shows signs of resentment, he's called Brazen. If an adult were given a direct command of this sort, with-

Ex-Arkansans to Visit State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Forty eight ex-Arkansans who are now leaders in business and industry in other states will come back this week to take a look at the state's progress.

The event is sponsored by the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce and the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

The 48 will arrive in Little Rock Thursday, attend a reception and dinner Friday night at the Top of the Rock Club, and go on an industrial tour of the city Friday morning.

Then they will board buses and go to Hendrix College in Conway for a meeting with Dr. Marshall Steel, president of the school. They'll have lunch at Winrock Farm near Morrilton as guests of Winthrop Rockefeller, then they'll tour the farm. Friday night they go to Hot Springs for a reception and dinner.

Porks Trying to Adjust to Pro Style

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks will continue today the demanding task of adjusting their offense to the pro-style offense of the Baylor Bears.

The Bears, who invade Razorback Stadium Saturday, beat the Porks 28-14 the last time they appeared here.

Arkansas worked an hour and 45 minutes against Baylor plays Tuesday and Coach Frank Broyles said only the Wild Hogs (defensive unit) showed any zip.

"This is tedious work," Broyles said. "There's so much readjusting and relearning to be done."

Team spirit was far down, Broyles said, from last week when the Porks were drilling for a 42-14 victory over Texas Christian.

Baylor is the only Southwest Conference team besides Texas to beat the Razorbacks since 1958. With Texas coming up the following week, Arkansas cannot afford a let down against the Bears.

Broyles said one of his main problems is other students telling his players how good they are. Glowing newspaper writeups haven't helped the attitude either, he added.

The Razorbacks heard a scouting report on Baylor Tuesday and Broyles said Coach Lon Farrell detected a weakness in the Bear line while watching losses to Houston and Pittsburgh. Baylor took last weekend off.

Broyles would not say, however, what the weakness was.

Broyles said Baylor quarterback Don Trull is a dangerous passer and has two good receivers in halfback Ronnie Goodwin and end James Ingram. Before the open date, Trull led the conference in passing yardage.

Charge Dismissed

OSCEOLA, Ark. (AP)—A voluntary manslaughter charge against Mrs. Wanda Stone, 23, was dismissed Saturday in Municipal Court. Mrs. Stone was charged in the shotgun slaying of her husband, Joe Stone, 28, at the couple's farm home last Sunday. She said Stone threatened her and she only meant to scare him when she pointed the weapon at him.

Auto Claims Life of TV Show Actor

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Jeff Baker was killed in an automobile accident the last week in August.

It came as a great shock to viewers of CBS' daytime "As the World Turns," who for six years had been following the ups and downs in Jeff's relationship with Penny, his wife. Repercussions are still being heard.

Jeff's demise, in soap opera terms, was sudden. The "accident" occurred on a Monday and by Wednesday he was gone. What made it even more upsetting was that after a long, complicated marital tangle, Jeff and Penny seemed to be getting along pretty well.

Daytime serials don't kill off leading characters very often. Usually the authors merely write them out of scripts by sending them to distant places for a spell so that if they choose, a character may be brought back, usually with a different face.

When a regular is killed in the script, all sorts of violent reactions come from the faithful viewers—including unescapably, a notion that the actor who played the character also shuffled off the mortal coil.

Mark Rydell, who played Jeff plans,

Ex-Arkansans to Return

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas will play host Thursday and Friday to 48 residents who left the state to make their fortunes elsewhere.

They are returning by invitation to see what has happened in Arkansas since they left.

The Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the project, invited 220 persons from a list of 600 names submitted by residents of the state. It expects 48 to show up.

The tour planned for the guests includes a sightseeing turn about Little Rock, a trip to Winrock Farm on Petit Jean Mountain and a visit to Hot Springs.

for all those years, is very much alive. Currently he is trying to work out a directing and acting deal with a major talent agency.

His television "death" came after the actor and the advertising agency which produces the serial were unable to get together on a new contract.

Just how much reaction Jeff's death occasioned is another question. A CBS spokesman said the network had received about 20 letters, which were answered by a form letter explaining the show's dramatic necessities and mentioning the actor's future plans.

Demand to Triple for Sports Sites

BULL SHOALS, Ark. (AP)—A federal wildlife official said Saturday that public demand for places to swim, hike, fish, hunt, camp and do other simple outdoor activities will triple by the year 2000.

Robert M. Paul, assistant to the director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, said it is to late for the states to decide whether they want to be in the outdoor recreation business. "They are in it already," he said.

Paul told about 60 members of the Great Rivers Outdoor Writers Association that Arkansas is better off than most states in abundance of outdoor recreational assets.

Paul said the big problem is not lack of land for outdoor recreation but lack of effective use of the land now set aside for that purpose.

The Great Rivers Writers Association, with writers from Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma, met over the week end at Bull Shoals Lake.

League Elects

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — City Clerk Emmett Jackson of Hot Springs was elected Monday as president of the Arkansas Municipal Clerks, Records and Treasurers Association. The group met in conjunction with the Arkansas Municipal League's annual convention.

Easy, Quick Fruit Cake

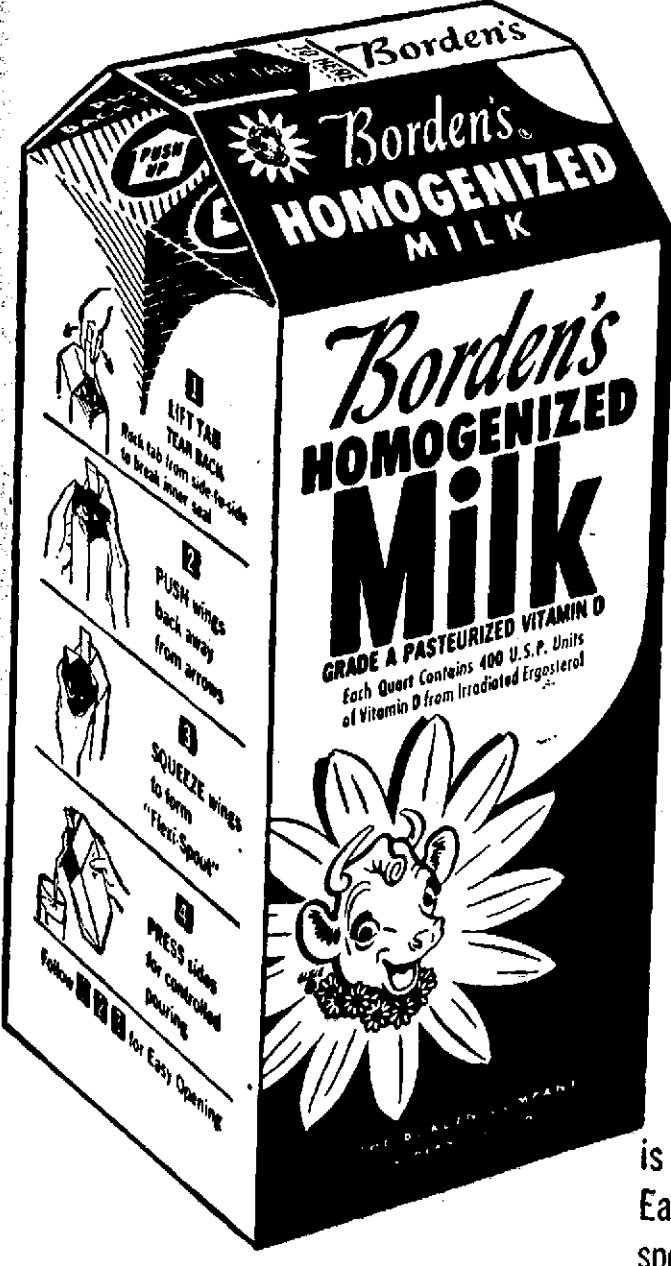

When rich, wonderfully-flavored "Desert Fruit Cake" is cut, each slice has a colorful, mosaic-like appearance, studded with fresh California dates and other festive fruits and nuts.

Handsomely decorated with additional fresh dates and candied cherries, the cake is neither difficult nor time-consuming to make.

- Desert Fruit Cake
- | | |
|--------------------------------------|--|
| 2 cups fresh California dates | 1/4 teaspoon baking powder |
| 1 cup golden raisins | 1/4 teaspoon salt |
| 1/2 cup candied cherries | 3 eggs |
| 1 1/2 cups Brazil nuts | 1/4 cup light brown sugar (packed) |
| 1 1/2 cups blanched slivered almonds | 1 teaspoon vanilla |
| 1/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour | 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine |

Cut dates into halves. Rinse, drain and dry raisins. Combine dates, raisins, whole cherries and nuts. Add 1/4 cup of flour and toss to coat. Sift remaining flour with baking powder and salt. Beat eggs well. Gradually beat in sugar until very thick. Stir in vanilla. Fold in flour mixture, then cooled melted butter and fruit-nut mixture. Turn into 2 greased and floured loaf pans (8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2 inches). Garnish with whole pitted dates and candied cherries, if desired. Bake in 325-degree (moderately slow) oven 45 to 50 minutes. Turn out and cool on wire racks. Wrap in foil or waxed paper and let stand at least 4 days before serving. Slice very thin. Makes 2 loaves.

* Or 2 square pans (9 inches).

Two for One Shows Appear on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A venerable show business device, used particularly when business isn't good, is that of offering two tickets for a single price. They are called "two-fers" — two for the cost of one.

One of this season's minor trends which seems to have escaped notice is the television two-fer. A number of the new shows are now serving up two stories—sometimes more—in a single episode.

One of these is CBS' "Fair Exchange," a pleasant comedy hour pegged on the temporary swap of teen-aged daughters by an English and an American family. Each Friday the program shuttles smoothly between the merry goings-on in London and New York. It is really two well-integrated shows.

Then there is NBC's "Sam Benedict," which always has two—and sometimes more—stories going at one time. Last Saturday there was the main story, one about a mad murderer in which Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes figured as the unlikely heavy. Then there was a minor and milder tale about a Chinese restaurant keeper innocently selling liquor to minors. Both were neatly wrapped up at the end.

The first episode of CBS' "The Nurses," suggested that this series, too, might juggle a number of medical and emotional plots and counterplots simultaneously. But last week's show was a straightforward story about a working woman's problem in adjusting to housewifery. The story even abandoned nursing and hospital scenes and its stars had little to do.

The one newcomer of the week-end, ABC's "The Gallant Men," on Friday evening, was an unglamorous, forthright war story with emphasis on the reactions of men in battle.

The central figure and story-teller of the series is a World War Correspondent, played by Robert McQuency. The story focused on a few men in a company forced to storm an enemy position somewhere between Salerno and Rome.

The sounds and sights of war—gun and mortar fire, mud, death—were simulated with uncomfortable realism. The plot, however, was phoned up a bit with a private who was really an AWOL major trying to make up for a mistake and a young captain who was beyond his depth.

If you like action, "The Gallant Men" has it—but it's the rugged kind.

Market Mixed, Trading Slow

NEW YORK (AP) — Selective improvement showed up here and there in a mixed stock market late this afternoon. Trading was slow.

Volume for the day was estimated at 2.1 million shares compared with 1.95 million Monday.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional.

Radin Corp. advanced about a point.

IBM was up more than 4, Polaroid and Xerox about a point each, Korvette a fraction.

Chrysler had a late burst of strength and rose about a point while other auto stocks performed indifferently.

Steels were mixed, with Wheeling and Republic ahead fractionally, others losing a bit.

American Telephone steadied after an early loss. Other utilities were unchanged to a bit higher.

Amerenda (ex dividend) dropped about 2 points.

Tobaccoes were unchanged to lower.

Standard Oil (New Jersey), Texaco, and Royal Dutch all gained fractions.

Airlines were about unchanged. Aerospace issues were narrowly mixed.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed.

U.S. government bonds continued a bit lower. Corporates were mixed.

U.S. Envoy Glad to Leave Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Cmdr. Raymond Smith, assistant U.S. naval attaché accused of espionage, left for the West today saying he is happy to get out of the Soviet Union.

"I don't think there is anybody who wouldn't be glad to leave the Soviet Union," Smith said. "But I am sorry I couldn't finish my tour of duty here."

He came to Moscow in June for a two-year assignment.

The Soviet government accused Smith of spying in Leningrad and ordered him out of the country. The U.S. State Department claimed the Russians were retaliating for the expulsion of two members of the Soviet U.N. delegation. They were accused of buying military secrets from a U.S. Navy yeoman.

Jews Observing Holiest Day

NEW YORK (AP) — Jews the world over, even behind the Iron Curtain, today observed Yom Kippur, their holiest day.

They fasted for 24 hours and prayed for elimination of poverty, hunger and prejudice and for attainment of world peace.

Yom Kippur culminates a 10-day period of repentance beginning with Rosh Hashana, which marked the start of the Year 5723 on the Jewish calendar.

Sikes Takes Lead for U.S. Team

KAWANA, Japan (AP) — Dick Sikes, a 22-year-old University of Arkansas student who has won the United States Public Links golf championship the past two years, and Walter Godfrey, a 20-year-old New Zealander, shot sub-par 698 today as the United States team moved out in front in the world amateur team championship of golf.

Before all the first day's returns were in, the Americans apparently had clinched the lead in the team play. Sikes' 69, a par 70 by Deane Beman, former U.S. amateur champion from Bethesda, Md., and a 73 by Labron Harris Jr. of Stillwater, Okla., the current U.S. amateur champion, gave the United States a three-man score of 212.

In the competition among 23 national teams for the Eisenhower trophy, the lowest three scores for each day for each four-man team are counted.

New Zealand was six strokes behind with a 218 total and the only threat to the United States appeared to come from Canada whose team had two late-starting players.

Sikes, who played so badly in practice that he took a day off from golf Tuesday, had a round of 33-36-69 over the picturesque 6,587-yard par 35-35 — 70 Fuji course. Godfrey, an Auckland, N.Z., salesman, posted 36-33-69.

Will Vote on Tax
FORDYCE, Ark. (AP) — Dallas County residents will vote Nov. 6 on a proposed two-mill tax increase to finance a $225,000 bond issue for a 15-room addition to the Dallas County hospital. The special voting will be held in connection with the general election.

Godfrey's teammates, Ross Newdick and Ross Murray, scored 37-37-74 and 34-41-74, respectively. Both Sikes and Godfrey complained that their putters had let them down despite their good scores.

Drainage Plan Is Approved

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Formation of a 26,000-acre drainage and irrigation district south of Stuttgart was approved Monday by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

The court ruled that two landowners who signed a petition for forming the district — Billy J. Burkett and H. H. McCauley — could not now have their names withdrawn. Formation of the district was attacked in a suit filed by Mrs. Georgia Pendleton, Hugh Partridge and Harold Partridge, who contended they would receive no benefit from it.

To withdraw, the court said, Burkett and McCauley would have to prove their signatures were obtained by fraud or duress. Without their names, the petition would have lacked sufficient signatures.

The Supreme Court ruling upheld Arkansas Chancery Court. In another opinion, the Supreme Court upheld the Arkansas Commerce Commission's ruling that the Kansas City Southern Railroad could not abandon its station at Taylor in Columbia County.
